

Society 2000, Inc.

A Registered Charity

A "Pre-Employment" service for individuals and families. Society 2000, Inc. is not an employment/training organization, but a link between the client and the existing agencies and employers in our community.

Through interviews, testing and skills review, each client will be assessed as to his/her abilities and introduced to a compatible workplace or training site for employment or further skills development, with full time employment the planned result. If the proposed client is accepted, a full plan review will be forwarded to his/her parole officer; support worker or CFS worker.

All clients will have resume and skills information updated as needed. Assistance with proper office and workplace etiquette and dress will be provided. Weekly gatherings of the clients and their families will be encouraged, through pot-luck dinners with drumming and singing as well as family 'learn to dance' evenings. Volunteer projects within the community will be posted and strongly suggested that clients to become involved. All events will be drug, alcohol and substance free. Anyone found to be using any mind-altering substance will be immediately removed from the program.

Objectives

To provide clients "First Contact" services for new parents; younger parents; couples and single parents regardless of ethnic background.

To offer clients a contact point for themselves and their families to access the needed services of the community.

ie: substance treatment, special medical needs, anger management, abuse counselling, family/parenting skills, spiritual/religious or legal issues.

To provide accurate assessments of the clients knowledge and abilities, to include past work history, volunteer skills, interests, hidden skills, education, behaviours (positive and negative), personal characteristics.

To provide a weekly gathering place for clients and their families for support groups, talking circles, entertainment and fun, in a safe, substance free environment.

Society 2000, Inc. is designed to assist clients (one on one individuals and families) working with Child & Family Services; Probation Officers & support workers.

Governing Rules

All clients of Society 2000, Inc. are productive members of the community and shall be treated with respect.

House Rules

1. No mind-altering substances are to be used by any client or member of a client's family using the services of Society 2000, Inc. Unless under direct doctors supervision with proof of prescription provided.
2. No violence, threats of violence, intimidation or acts of violence will be tolerated.
3. All communication for the purposes of assisting a client will be held in strict confidence. Information that is relevant to the security of Society 2000, Inc. personnel and clients will be passed on to the appropriate agency. Requests for client information from other agencies must be in writing, with release of information permission signed by the client.
4. No personal relationships between Society 2000, Inc. personnel and clients will be tolerated.

Expected Results

Society 2000, Inc. is a vision for tomorrow. By providing an alternative approach to information, Society 2000, Inc., will give a friendly face to the new community member. Through community partnerships and networking connections, Society 2000, Inc., will remove many of the barriers to employment, training and social programs.

Society 2000, Inc., has ready access to both official languages, as well as community connections for most Aboriginal languages; offshore language assistance can be accessed when needed. This will assist the new client who may still be having trouble communicating in English.
